MAY TALK BOOZE DURING VISIT WITH HARDING

Associated Press
WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Dec. 16.—The chief executives of 15 states, attending the 14th annual conference of the governors here, were preparing to leave for Washington after the final session today for a luncheon conference with President Harding at the White House Monday, presumably on the prohibition question.

Gov. Sproule of Pennsylvania and Gov. Preus of Minnesota, through whom the president personally extended his invitation for the conference, the other governors over the telephone last night, said that he did not indicate to them the questions to be discussed. As the chief executive, however, had previously announced his intention of calling the governors to Washington to discuss the liquor question next month, the opinion seems to prevail among those here today that either the date of the conference had been advanced, or the meeting Monday had been called as a possible preliminary to the January session.

Gov. Preus, who was due in Washington today to have luncheon with the president, was expected to take with him a list of the governors who will follow him from White Sulphur Springs.

The governors definitely accepting the invitation were:

Kilby, Alabama; Campbell, Arizona; Denny, Delaware; Davis, Idaho; McCray, Indiana; Allen, Kansas; Cox, Massachusetts; Ritchie, Maryland; Preus, Minnesota; Hyde, Missouri; McKelvie, Nebraska; Scott, Oregon; Sproule, Pennsylvania; Hartness, Vermont, and Trinkle of Virginia.

Gov. Parker of Louisiana, who injected the prohibition question into the conference by asking his conferees to consider the amendment question at this opportunity instead of waiting until January, when the meeting of state legislatures might prevent many from leaving their states, expressed pleasure at receipt of the president's invitation, but stated that pressing problems would compel his return to Louisiana.

Gov. Morrison, North Carolina, who, during the conference, took exception to the statement of Parker that prohibition had proved a failure throughout the country, also said he would be unable to attend, as did Govs. Hardee, Florida, and Morgan, West Virginia.

Dehn of the chemical department at the University of Washington. Sawdust instead of T.N.T. is used in his process. He is going to ask the legislature to have the new dynamite manufactured for the state and sold to farmers at cost.

HOTEL TO BE SCENE OF DANCE TONIGHT

The Maryland hotel is to be the scene of a prettily appointed dance this evening at which the managing directors of the hotel, Charles B. Hervey and F. W. Parget, will play host to the guests and their friends.

The entire parlor on the main lobby will be given over to the affair, and arrangements have been made to take care of an unusually large crowd. A well known local orchestra has been engaged and will render an attractive program of the latest popular selections.

The Maryland's new dining system, consisting of the dignified colonial dining room, the colorful poopy room and the modern lunch room seems to have scored a distinct hit not only with the hotel guests, but with scores of San Diegans who are making it a popular rendezvous for noon and evening dinner. The hotel is making a specialty of serving table d'hote chicken dinners every evening from 5:30 to 8, and attractive plate luncheons at noon.

LISZT'S MUSIC INCLUDED IN PROGRAM

The three great symphonic compositions to be presented Monday evening by the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra in the second concert of the series of six comprising this year's season are representative of three great schools of orchestral music. The vivid coloring of Rimsky-Korsakow's Russian suite, "Scheherazade," the dignity and dramatic appeal of Wagner's Prelude to "The Mastersingers" and the exuberance of Liszt's beautiful symphonic poem, "Les Preludes," will afford a delightful musical variety to this notable musical event. The concert will be given at the Spreckels Theatre, and both course and season tickets are now on sale at the box office.

Liszt chose the following passages from the "Paeic Meditation" by the French lyric poet Alphonse de Lamartine, as the program for his symphonic poem, "Les Preludes," written in 1854, is one of the earliest and best compositions in this style, expressing the program closely.

"What is our life but a series of preludes to that unknown song, the first solemn notes of which is sounded by Love? Love forms the enchanted daybreak of every life; but what is the destiny where the first delights of happiness are not interrupted by some storm, whose fatal dissipates its faint illusions, whose fell lightning consumes its altar? And what wounded spirit, when one of its tempests is over, does not seek to rest its memories in the sweet calm of country life?"

SHRINERS TO GIVE 2 CAMELS TO ZOO

The camels are to be named Mr. and Mrs. Al Bahr, it is said, and it is hoped they will raise a large family.

Frank A. Frye was elected as the new potentate of the temple, and Duncan MacKinnon was chosen recorder.

Your Government To Cost You Less

With the help of the Budget Bureau, with the co-operation of Congress, with the aid of continual plodding from the White House, the United States Government seems at last to be in a happy way financially. When the newspaper editors read the message President Harding submitted to Congress along with the budget for the next fiscal year, even the Democrats promptly sat down and wrote cheerful, happy, and congratulatory editorials. For they learned that this prodigal Government of ours has in three years cut down its spendings from a six-billion-dollar to a three-billion-dollar basis; that it is going to spend half a billion dollars less in the next fiscal year than in the present; that the expected $600,000,000 deficit for 1923 has already been cut down by half and, since it is only December, may very well be wiped out altogether by the end of the year on June 30; and finally, that the official Budget Bureau estimates for the fiscal year ending in 1924, indicate a substantial surplus of $180,969,125.

You will read in THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, December 16th, how the reduction in government expenses has been effected, what activities have been curtailed, and what the probable effects upon the tax-payer may be. Other instructive news-articles in this week's issue of THE DIGEST are:

The Zoning Ordinance and Loma Portal

Attorneys have advised that unless the necessary restrictions are in your deed there is grave doubt as to the legality of a zoning ordinance that may be passed later.

The San Diego Securities Company realized this and in selling LOMA PORTAL had inserted in each deed every restriction to protect those who wanted a distinctly residential district in which to live.

The owner of a Loma Portal home is amply safeguarded. Nothing but private residences may be built in LOMA PORTAL.

Our own architect passes on all plans so that they may harmonize with the surroundings.

All residences must be a certain distance from the street, creating a parking effect that adds greatly to the beauty of the surroundings.

The foregoing are a few of the protective restrictions which are in each and every deed issued to a purchaser of a lot in LOMA PORTAL. Living there you are more fortunate than those in less favored districts whose owners were not as far-sighted as was the San Diego Securities Company.

We are for a zoning ordinance in San Diego, and will work for it; but LOMA PORTAL already has one.

Baker's Cocoa

is the ideal drink for growing children

Not only does its delicious flavor and aroma appeal to the palate but it supplies the body with a considerable amount of pure, wholesome and nutritious food.

Children, owing to their almost ceaseless activity, frequently require as large an amount of nourishment as adults, and good cocoa is a valuable aid in the carefully arranged diet. But its quality must be good and no cocoa can quite so well meet the requirements of dietician, physician, nurse or housekeeper as "BAKER'S"
